

AMELITA GALLI-CURCI

FAMOUS oratura soprano, alli-Curci received reception in Viccoloratura Madame Gan.
an enthusiastic reception in vactoria where she commenced a Canadian tour last week. She will appear here Tuesday night.

STRANGÉ LIGHTS SEEN BY YACHT RECALLS LEGEND

[By The Canadian Press]
LUNENBURG, N.S. — Exon of strange lights that Explana LUNENBURG, N.S.—Expansed and repassed his schooner yacht, Odysseus III, off the Nova Scotia coast was still being sought today by John Hays Hammond, Jr., of Gloucester, Mass. When the Odysseus put in here, Hammond and his captain, Howard Whynot, told of the mysterious lights in the vicinity of Sambro lighthouse.

"The sea was quite lumpy and things were pretty wet on deck," said Hammond. "We could clearly see all the lighthouses along the coast and the range of vision was completely normal. The sky itself was overcast and there were no stars showing. Our course was laid so that Sambro light lay about two points abaft our beam. schooner yacht, Nova Scotia tion of strange and repassed h Odysseus III, o n

d

d. 1n

5

ts

e t.

or

S.

al

h pıg

n-so id ke th

so that Sambro light lay about two points abaft our beam.

"I was looking out astern when suddenly I saw two unusual lights and pointed them out to Captain Whynot. For several minutes we watched them. They looked like distant torches, large and yellow, and were approaching the ship at prodigious speed.

"Suddenly the lights swung about revealing a third bright'yelprodigious speed.

"Suddenly the lights swung about, revealing a third, bright yellow flare-light. Then all three disappeared as suddenly as they had come, although we saw them again several times during the night."

No explanation of the lights has been given yet, although Hammond believes they were caused by some electrical phenomenon in the at-electrical phenomenon in the at-mosphere. A theory that they were parachute star-shells fired from two Canadian destroyers during manoeuvres they were carrying out at the time, was discounted by the Canadian fact the lights were travelling up-wind when seen by the crew of the Odysseus, while star shells travel Odysseus, while with the wind.

The story told by the American achtsman immediately recalled to yachtsman mind the famous Teazer light, a sudden strange glow which for more than 100 years, it is claimed, has visited the waters of Chester Basin on calm nights; ever since the United States privateer "Young Teazer" was blown in there by one light, a Teazer" was blown up there by one of her own officers in 1813.

The Teazer had been cornered in the basin by five British war craft. One of her officers, so the story ones, preferring death to continue. goes, preferring death to capture, dropped a lighted tinder into a powder train leading to the open magazine, just as the English boats magazine, just as the English coats were coming alongside. Strangely enough, after the ex-plosion, the only man left alive for capture aboard the Teazer was the officer who had blown up his ship. Legend has it that the strange lights seen sometimes over Chester Basin are a memorial to him.

th ar kr in

of

C

n

n

T

16

o fi

N S

g

li C

at Augustine United church.

RILED VILLAGERS STONE HAUNTED OLD WARDROBE

LONDON (By Mail) — Peace reigns at Carterton Manor, where for some months a ghostly ward-tobe has been troubling the occupants.

But the village of Clanfield, a few miles away, is sorely troubled. The wardrobe has been bought for $250 by the host of the Ploughhotel, M. E. Rundle. has been bought nost of the Plough

The w wardrobe was brought placed outhouse

"Whatever might have happened has been spoiled entirely by the villagers," Mr. Rundle said.

"The news of the arrival of the wardrobe soon spread round the village, and all the lads from miles around gathered round the outhouse and kept on catcalling and throwing bricks onto the iron roof. roof.

"Personally, I don't believe in ghosts, but during one of the quiet spells last night one of the doors certainly did start trembling considerably. There was no question of vibration coming from anywhere, as the outhouse from anywhere, as the outhouse has two-foot thick stone walls.

"The row from the villagers was worse than ever, and I brought the wardrobe into the hotel."

(Phituary |

GEORGE DESROSIERS

Resident of Letellier, Man., Georges Desrosiers, 81, died Satur-day. Funeral services will be Tuesday, at 10 a.m., from his day. Funeral services Tuesday, at 10 a.m., from his residence to Letellier church. Bur-ial will be in the family plot in Letellier cemetery. The Coutu service is in charge.

ARTHUR RENAUD

Funeral services will be conductruneral services will be conducted today at 10 a.m. for Arthur Renaud, 47, of 278 Notre Dame st., St. Boniface, who died Saturday, at his residence. Services will be in Niche, N.D., church. Burial will be in the family plot in Niche cemetery. Coutu's are in charge of arrangements. in Niche cemetery. Cou charge of arrangements.

ARTHUR LESLIE

Arthur Leslie, of 253 Balmoral st., died Friday, in Victoria hospital. A funeral service will be held today at 2 p.m., in the Thomson chapel, following which the body will be forwarded to Montreal for jurial. burial.

CHARLES EWING

Charles Ewing, 78, died Saturday in St. Boniface. Funeral services will be Tuesday at 10.30 a.m. in the Gardiner funeral chapel. Burial will be in Brookside cemetery.

ANNIVERSARY HELD

Dr. A. B. Baird was the preacher at a service s afternoon at at a service Sunday at Headingly United church at a service celebrating the 26th anniversary. The minister, 26th anniversary. The Rev. W. L. T. Patteson, charge of the service.

celebration will he The tinued Wednesday at an entertain ment at 8 p.m. sponsored by the W.A., in the Agricultural hall.